A NOTE ON WILLIAM PENN'S COMMISSION FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF PENNSYLVANIA DURING HIS FIRST VISIT TO ENGLAND IN 1684.

(Plates I and II.)

BY I. MINIS HAYS, M.D.

(Read January 6, 1899.)

On March 4, 1681, Charles II granted a charter, in which he made William Penn full and absolute Proprietor of that dominion which is now called Pennsylvania, and invested him with the powers of government of the same. Penn sailed for America on the 6th of August of the following year and landed at New Castle, on the Delaware, on October 24. He at once set about establishing his government and aiding the Quakers, who had emigrated under his auspices, in regulating their affairs in the colony, until in 1684 the dispute between Lord Baltimore and himself concerning the boundary of their respective provinces and the critical condition into which other of his important affairs had been thrown by his enemies during his absence in America rendered his presence in England necessary.

He therefore departed for home in June, 1684, but before so doing it was necessary to provide for the government of his province in his absence, and to this end, he executed a commission on the same day that he set sail, lodging in the hands of the Provincial Council the powers of government vested in him, and he appointed Thomas Lloyd, who also held a commission to keep the great seal, its President.¹

In the Minutes of the Provincial Council it is stated that "at a Council held at New Castle the 18th of y^e 6th Month 1684 a commission from y^e Gov^r was read, Impowring the Prov^l Council to act in the Governm^t in his Stead, Ths. Lloyd being Presid^t of y^e same." ²

In the Minutes of 31st of January, 1686, P.M., it is also stated that "The commission from y^e Gov^r to y^e Prov^l Council Impowring them to act in his stead, with y^e memorandum on the back side thereof was Read." ³

Neither the text of this commission, nor the important memorandum on the back is given, nor, so far as I can learn, have they ever appeared in print. I have been so fortunate, however, as to find the original document among some unarranged papers in the possession of this Society, and it bears no marks upon it to show that it was ever recorded. It seems, therefore, desirable that the text of this important document should now be made available to students of the history of this Commonwealth, as well as the memorandum on its back, which is referred to in the second record in the Minutes of the Provincial Council, which was executed on the same day on board the Ketch Endeavour just as Penn was about to sail for home, and which very materially restricted the large powers he had just previously on the same day granted in the original instrument. It constitutes another example of what has frequently been observed, that man's first impulses are more generous than his second thoughts.
